

Artifact from the Future

Follow this guide to discover your very own Artifact from the Future.

1. Choose your words carefully

Fill in the columns below with the appropriate words. Six different people from the future in the first column, six actions in the third column, etc.

Have fun with this. Or be serious. The building blocks of your future have no limit.

| WHO will inhabit this future? <small>(Grandma, a scientist, my little brother, Sam, sportsfans, etc.)</small> | What will this future FEEL like? <small>(friendly, regulated, adversarial, wholly unfamiliar, etc.)</small> | What ACTION will people take in the future? <small>(flying, sharing, tasting, blogging, etc.)</small> | What is a future ATTRIBUTE ? <small>(hyper-local, lab grown, augmented, drone-delivered, etc.)</small> | What OBJECT will people interact with? <small>(book, toothbrush, plant, bike, road, etc.)</small> |

2. Mix it up

Select five dice, and roll them. Place one dice in each column on the appropriate number.

Own your future! Sure, there is some element of chance, but you still have agency over which dice go where.

WHO in a FEEL world, ACTION with a ATTRIBUTE future OBJECT

3. Tell a story

Make these words into a sentence. Discuss how that sentence could be real. Roll the dice again, and make as many sentences as you want. Write down your favorites.

People in your group will be excited with some things and bored with others. Figure out why.

4. Create your Artifact

Draw a picture, make origami, or use photoshop to bring your Artifact to life.

Share it with the world! Show your Artifact to someone, and ask for their honest opinion.
